Parade at Three O'clock

The parade is to begin promptly at 3 o'clock Thursday from the armory, Ninth street and Ohio avenue. The leaders of the parade will be Colonel Salisbury and all Pettis county service personnel now at home. The parade will march down Ohio avenue and go through the business district. It is planned to end the parade at the court house lawn and there hear addresses by the members of the War Finance Committee and also by Colonel Salisbury. Lawrence Barnett will introduce Colonel Salisbury. The total amount of the war bonds sold throughout the county in the five hour campaign on Thursday will be announced before the festivities are completed at the court house.

Sgt. Swillum Dies in Action

Sgt. Joseph C. Swillum, 19, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Swillum, of California, Mo., was killed in action October 7 in Italy, according to a telegram recently received by his parents from the War Department. Sgt. Swillum had been previously reported missing.

Sgt. Swillum was born near California July 2, 1925, was inducted into the armed forces in August of 1943 and was sent overseas with the infantry April 25, 1944.

Besides his parents, he is survived by four brothers, three of whom are in military service: Sgt. Leo Swillum, with the air corps in Italy; Pfc. William Swillum, with the marines in the South Pacific; Pfc. Sylvester Swillum, gunner with the air corps in France; and John Pat Swillum, scheduled to leave for military induction November 15. There are also three sisters, Misses Anna Marie, Gertrude and Pauline Swillum, all of the home, and his 86-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Mary Swillum.

Charles Burns McEniry, who was wounded in action in the European area on August 12, and evacuated to a hospital in England, where he was awarded the Purple Heart, will return to active duty November 20, according to word from the War Department to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. McEniry, 412 Dal-Whi-Mo Court.

Shot Down Plane at Manila

Ensign Jerome L. Wolf, Jr., USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wolf of 1613 East Broadway, fighter pilot attached to Air Group 31 whose members are now on leave in this country, has participated in three bombing and strafing attacks against enemy positions in the Philippines.

He has been attached to Air Group 31 since September 1944. On September 21, 1944, he shot down one enemy plane at Manila, P. I., and is credited with inflicting considerable damage to enemy shipping and ground installations, including planes destroyed or damaged on the ground.

Prior to joining Air Group 31 he was attached to the USS Yorktown, and from that carrier he made a total of 18 strikes against the enemy. On June 20, 1944, he participated in the attack against the Jap Fleet in the Eastern Philippines and shot down two Jap planes.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 14—(P)—The Republicans salvaged control of both houses of the state legislature from their election debacle of last week.

Although they lost part of their 95 to 55 margin of 1943 in the house of representatives, they still had at least 81 sure seats to only 63 clinched by the Democrats and captured 19 to 15 control of the state senate as well.

Six house seats remained in doubt.

It was the first time since 1921 the GOP ruled the senate, which was a 17 to 17 tie in the last session. The Republicans did it by taking the previously Democratic 17th and 27th districts and holding four other seats to add to the 13 they carried over from 1942.

The Democrats made their house gains almost exclusively in St. Louis, which replaced 14 Republicans and five Democrats with 18 Democrats and only one Republican.

The first and 21st district senatorial races were still too close for comfort, but the party now controlling them led in both races and unless absentees alter their results, here are the winners of the 17 senate seats at stake this year:

Senate Winners

First district, Clark A. McColl, Westboro, incumbent Republican; Third, Jess D. Sexton, Lawson, incumbent Democrat; Fifth, Edgar J. Keating, Kansas City, Democrat; Seventh, Frank L. Wilkinson, Kansas City, Democrat; Ninth, Donald Franklin Christian, 12786-Rt. 3, Sedalia.

ST. LOUIS C. OF C. Head Coming

George C. Smith of St. Louis, president of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, will be the guest speaker at a membership dinner of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce at the Bothwell Inn at 6:45 o'clock Tuesday evening, November 21.

Mr. Smith will need no introduction to Sedalians. He was for more than 12 years assistant to the president of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad, in charge of industrial and agricultural development on the road's southwestern territory, during which time he often came to Sedalia. He met with the Chamber of Commerce members, advised with them, and was always willing and glad to work with them on any industrial proposals.

His work with the M. K. T. attracted the attention of St. Louis industrial leaders and led to his election to his present position.

Mr. Smith will be introduced at the dinner by L. H. Reed, president of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce.

He will arrive in Sedalia early Tuesday morning on the M. K. T. and spend the entire day here.

Donnell Still Ahead in Race For Senator

McKittrick Gains But May not Overcome Opponent

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 14—(P)—Bell returns from three Wright county precincts boosted Gov. Forrest C. Donnell 403 votes in his senatorial race with Attorney General Roy McKittrick today and gave him a lead of 4,030 votes which looked very difficult for McKittrick to overcome.

The Wright county returns made the Republican governor's home vote lead 9,541. The Democratic attorney general had gained 5,511 in an absentee vote count which—more than three-fourths complete—favored McKittrick 36,912 to 31,401.

The complete total home vote was: Donnell 736,834, McKittrick 727,293.

McKittrick was getting about 54 per cent of the mail ballots which now look like they will be held before Justice of the Peace A. M. Harlan at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. The hearing is scheduled to be held in the circuit court room of the Pettis county courthouse instead of in the offices of Judge Harlan.

Holland, at a hearing the last of June, was bound over to the October term of criminal court. The case was dismissed by Judge Robert Johnson of Marshall, Mo., when Prosecuting Attorney L. J. Harned asked such action, stating the state was not ready for trial. A continuance had previously been denied the state. Immediately following the dismissal of Holland by Judge Johnson, the exact charge of murder was refiled in the court of Judge Harlan and the hearing set for November 15th.

Mr. Harned gave as his reason for asking for a continuance that he had additional information and did not have time to obtain the witnesses. At the hearing scheduled for Wednesday, it is understood the record of the previous preliminary hearing will be introduced, which will not necessitate the calling of the same witnesses who appeared last June.

Two Heavy Counties

McKittrick's hopes lay in St. Louis City and Buchanan county, which hold the bulk of the uncounted votes. But Donnell could counter yet with Republican and populous St. Louis county, and with Republican St. Francois county.

A handful of votes also remained to be tabulated in St. Charles, Sullivan, Saline and Jackson county, which are not quite through counting.

It probably will be next week before all are counted, with St. Louis city and county and Buchanan county progressing slowest.

McKittrick was riding the high tide of the 19,000 ballots in strong-

The president of the alliance, the Rev. W. C. Bessmer, Jr., acted as toastmaster and expressed, on behalf of the alliance, wishes of future success to Mr. and Mrs. Vandermerwe as they go to their new work.

Mr. Bessmer also introduced the new members of the alliance: the Rev. and Mrs. Albert Crawley, Church of the Open Bible, the Rev. T. W. Croxton, First Baptist church, and Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Bloss of the U. S. O. in Sedalia.

Others present at the luncheon were: Mrs. Clyde Sherman, the Rev. and Mrs. J. F. King, the Rev. and Mrs. H. U. Campbell, the Rev. and Mrs. H. M. Janssen, and the Rev. S. W. Jensen.

Japanese Trapped In Limon

Bodies of More Than 600 Dead Enemy Soldiers Were Counted

By Dean Schedler

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Nov. 14—(P)—(Via Army Radio)—Japanese reinforcements and equipment became a bloody shambles in Limon today when trapped by an American artillery barrage as doughboys moved on the Ormoc road town from three sides.

Observers on Breakneck ridge near Ormoc valley, where bodies of more than 600 dead Japanese soldiers were counted after one day of fighting, saw large concentrations of Japanese reinforcements, troops, trucks and guns rolling into Limon.

American artillery roared throughout the night and today the town was a mass of flaming wreckage and apparently uninhabited.

Maj. Gen. Fred Irving, 24th division commander, told Fred Hampson, Associated Press war correspondent, he was reluctant to say the Japanese force in Limon had been knocked out. He added, however, the prospects were bright for American forces if the Japanese had been eliminated.

The Japanese have elements of five divisions fighting against the Americans in the Philippines, Gen. Douglas MacArthur has announced.

Merry-go-Round

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—When you call the roll of the new senate, you can't escape the conclusion that it will be better equipped and better intentioned regarding the writing of a permanent peace than any senate in years—perhaps any other in history.

The president has been given a comfortable, working majority of senators, chiefly Democrats, but including several A-1 Republicans who understand foreign policy and are heart and soul in favor of a cooperative plan to build up the peace after this war is over.

A large bloc of the nation obviously did not believe in Governor Dewey's slogan, "It's time for a change," in regard to the White House, but they did take his words seriously as far as the congress is concerned.

Here is the roll call of some who swept out the old isolationists in the senate on the idea that "it's time for a change."

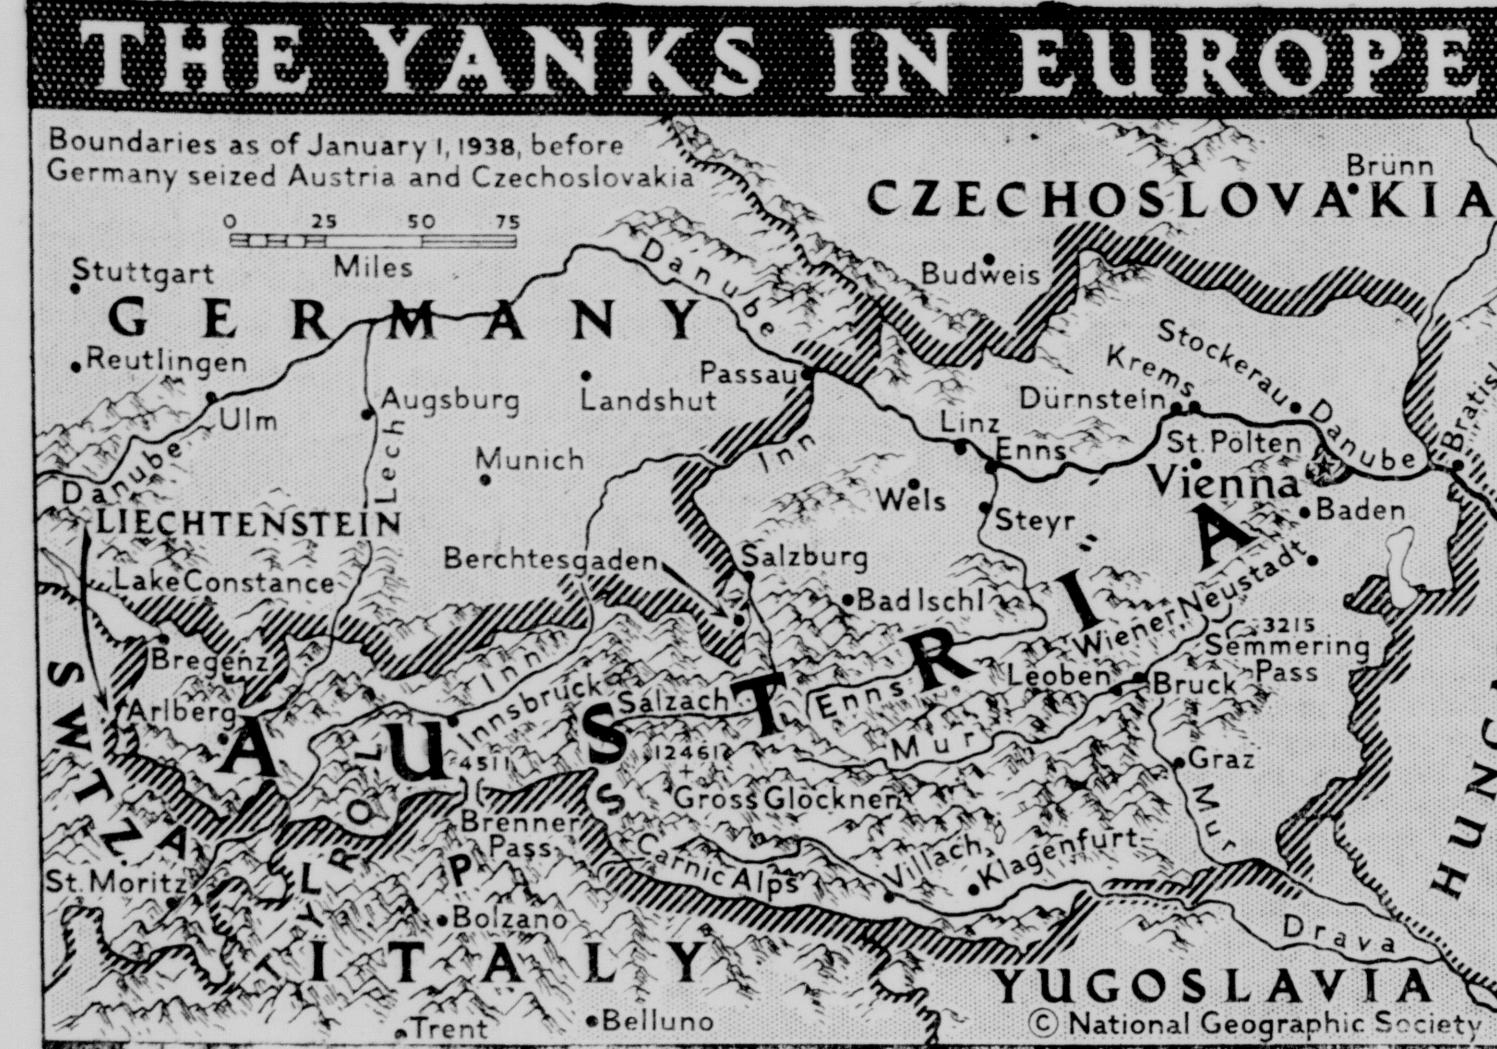

Governor John Moses of North Dakota, Democrat, replaces isolationist Senator Gerald Nye, and is his exact opposite. Born in Norway, educated at a Norwegian college, Moses migrated here at the age of 20, was a railroad section hand, later became the law partner of Lynn Stambaugh, former head of the American Legion, who also ran against Nye last week. . . . Stambaugh, a good friend of Moses, actually made a sacrifice hit, taking votes away from Nye so Moses could score the victory. . . . Moses has the best Norwegian library in North Dakota, is a great believer in Wilsonian ideals, will push permanent peace. . . . Three times governor of North Dakota, he is the first Democratic senator ever elected from that state.

Brien McMahon of Connecticut, Democrat, replaces isolationist Senator Danaher, Republican. McMahon knows the government from A to Z, trained in the justice department as assistant attorney general, prosecuted the Harlan county coal murders, was probably the first man since the Civil war to jail any one for practicing slavery. He convicted an Arkansas sheriff for using Negro prisoners as his personal slaves.

Clyde Hoey of North Carolina, Democrat, replaces isolationist Senator Bob Reynolds. Addicted to wing collars, swallow-tailed coats and old fashioned oratory, Hoey comes to the senate after serving in Woodrow Wilson's last congress, later becoming governor of North Carolina. . . . Brother-in-law of ex-Governor Max Gardner, he and Max frequently tangle in the courtroom, call each other all sorts of names before the jury, walk out of court arm in arm.

Governor Olin Johnston of South Carolina, Democrat, replaces the famous "Cotton Ed" Smith who, except on race questions, usually voted more Republican than Democratic. In the replacement of Smith of South Carolina and Reynolds of North Carolina, though they are Democrats, Roosevelt actually gains two new senators, since he could depend on neither of the present incumbents. . . . Johnston, twice governor of South Carolina, was born in a mill town, came up the hard way as a textile worker, is sympathetic with labor, will be a Roosevelt supporter on everything except a federal anti-lynching bill, poll taxes and the price of cotton.

Wayne Morse of Oregon, Republican, replaces isolationist Senator Rufus Holman, will back FDR on foreign policy, also on labor, will criticize Roosevelt on government efficiency. . . . Dean of law at the University of Oregon, Morse has spent about eight years helping Roosevelt solve labor problems, was a member of the War Labor Board. . . . One of the few who can match the sulphurous pen of Secretary Ikes, he once began a letter to Ikes with this statement: "Dear Sir: Your most recent communication serves only to strengthen Parts of the old kingdom were lost to Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Italy; and the Republic of Austria which emerged was only about the size of Maine. The Republic was gobbled up by Germany in the first of the Nazi Reich's major expansions in 1938.

IV. AUSTRIA

This is the fourth of a series of articles prepared by the National Geographic Society for the Sedalia Democrat-Capital to inform readers about the countries where Allied forces may operate. An article will appear in the Sedalia Democrat-Capital each Sunday.

Terrain

Austria lies at the center of Europe. Vienna, its music loving capital, with nearly two million people, ranks sixth among the continent's cities, by virtue of its position as the hub of rail, highway and water routes to every corner of Europe.

This central position has brought many wars and occasional wealth and power to Austria. Since 1914, however, it has brought little but war's desolation, political and economic adversity.

No other European country was so carved up by the treaties that followed World War I as was the near-mighty empire called Austria-Hungary. Overrun by Napoleon in 1795 and 1809, Austria-Hungary shaped its fortunes to become (with Germany and Italy) part of central Europe's Triple Alliance in 1882. It was a patchwork empire of more than a dozen nationalities with an area matching Texas and with 51 million subjects. It included Bohemia, Moravia, Galicia, Bucovina, Transylvania, Bosnia, Dalmatia, Croatia, Istria, the entire Tyrol, states and areas that completely buffered Austria and Hungary.

1914 Crisis

At Sarajevo in Bosnia, just within the southermost corner of that empire, came its crisis on June 28, 1914, when Serbian nationalists assassinated the heir to the empire's crown. Four and a half years later Austria was a federal republic the size of Maine (one-eighth the size of Texas) with less than seven million people. Chunks of the former empire had gone to create new states and to enlarge old ones—Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Yugoslavia and Italy. Austria had been reduced to its German-speaking core.

This German-speaking core, set up as an independent state in 1918 but reduced to a province of the Nazi Reich in 1938, can be envisioned on the map as a much nibbled pear. On the west it adjoins Switzerland and tiny Liechtenstein and Lake Constance is its stem. On the east is Hungary, and Vienna is its blossom end. Yugoslavia and Italy border on the south. Czechoslovakia on the north and east, Germany on the north.

Trade Routes The city lies on the Danube thoroughfare from Germany to the Black Sea; on the ancient "amber route" from the northeast and the Baltic; on the route southwest past the oft-bombed airplane and locomotive plants of Wiener Neustadt (Vienna Newstadt) through the Semmering Pass to Trieste on the Adriatic; on rail and highway routes running westward through Austria's 350-mile length into France, branching at Innsbruck, south through the Brenner Pass into Italy, north to Munich and Stuttgart.

Smaller Than Vienna

Other Austrian cities are small compared with Vienna. Second largest is Graz, southwest of Vienna, capital of Styria, mountainous province whose iron ore makes industry for many of the city's 153,000 people. In a narrow strip along the country's eastern border from near Vienna to near Graz extends Burgenland ("Land of Castles"), transferred from Hungary to Austria after World War I—the only territory added to a defeated central powers nation under the peace treaties.

A hundred miles west up the Danube from Vienna, Linz, prewar population 109,000, best known for furniture, lies in the Danube plain close to Enns and Austria's automotive city, Steyr. The three constitute an industrial area repeatedly bombed by the Allies from bases in Italy.

Farther west, on the German border north of Berchtesgaden and at the edge of the Salzkammergut mountain lake resort region, Salzburg shares with Vienna the glory of Austria's music achievement. Musicians, artists, composers, conductors, dancers have long flocked to Salzburg for music festivals lasting half the summer. It is Mozart's birthplace, a mountainside city of 40,000 people.

Similarly beautiful, Innsbruck, capital of the Tyrol, is a city of 65,000 in the neck of the Austrian pear. Surrounded by high mountains, it is, as its name tells, the Bridge over the Inn, on the very ancient and always important route of all traffic between Germany and Italy, via the Brenner Pass. It shares honors with Vienna and Graz as one of Austria's three university cities.

Westward a hundred miles of high Alpine beauty leads through Arlberg to Bregenz. Eastward some sixty miles is the majestic Gross Glockner, Austria's highest peak, towering 12,461 feet.

But Vienna became large because industry was stimulated by peace. . . . A Rhodes scholar who jumped from president of the University of Arkansas into the house of representatives, Fulbright had the courage, though only a rookie congressman, to push and pass the Fulbright resolution calling for international cooperation to prevent war. His leadership forced the hand of Cordell Hull and the administration.

Senator-elect Bourke Hickenlooper, governor of Iowa, Republican, is expected to be a better supporter of the president's foreign policy than his predecessor, Democratic senator Guy Gillette, who leaned toward isolation. A good governor of Iowa, Hickenlooper has the reputation of being a fair fighter. . . . Senators who preside over the senate will be grateful that they merely recognize "The senator from Iowa," and won't have to call out his name.

In addition to the above list, some of the president's staunchest past supporters on foreign policy, such as Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, are back on the job for another six years. So if the president doesn't write a peace that will stick, it will be his own fault. His senate will not only cooperate, but probably be a bit ahead of him.

Warren Magnuson of Washington, Democrat, is one of the youngest men elected to the senate in eight years, is 39. He has been a brilliant, hard-working booster of FDR's foreign policies in the House of Representatives. . . . Magnuson saw service in the navy as a lieutenant commander immediately after the outbreak of the war, has been one of the most useful members of the house naval affairs committee.

J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, Democrat, is another senator who will give the president plenty of support in shaping a permanent

Cigarettes In War Area Few

PARIS, November 14.—(P)—The American cigarette shortage has spread to the European war theater. Enlisted men in Paris were informed Monday they would get no cigarettes this week.

At post exchanges for officers the ration was reduced to five packs a week, which seems low to heavy smokers, but added to the chagrin of soldiers who get none at all.

Cigarette supplies at the front also were low, with soldiers reported cut to two packs weekly in some sectors.

American cigarettes—all diverted from army supplies—still were available on the black market in Paris at $1.50 a pack and the price was rising. French cigarettes are rationed to civilians at six packs monthly. They sell on the forget it." "Maybe you didn't realize it, but your attitude was very insulting."

If she was going to keep this up much longer it wasn't going to be funny. I became firm.

"I'll come up and apologize in person. I'll be there in 10 minutes."

"Make it at 3." I looked at my watch. It was 2:20.

"On the dot," I said.

"By the way, Leo—"

"Yes, Ginger."

"That card with the pigeon on it. What did it mean?"

I guess my symbolism was too obscure for her.

"It was a dove, darling. The dove of peace."

I hung up.

AT exactly 3 I parked across the street from the Chalfont. My speech was all prepared. I was going to tell Ginger I hadn't slept all night. I'd always dreamed about her but had foolishly imagined there was a terrific gulf between us. I didn't care if I sounded like a small-town Romeo. I'd mention my friendship with Virgil, only to add quickly that even friendship was forgotten when something like this happened between a man and a woman. Talk is cheap. If that's what she wanted she'd get plenty of it.

But when she opened the door I forgot everything. I looked at her red hair and those green eyes. I don't know what I said. We went into the living room and I saw my red roses in a big vase. Then I looked at Ginger again.

I'd intended to lead her to the window and spring the car on her. I didn't do that either. I kept on looking at her and she at me, and then we both sat down. I grabbed her hands.

"Ginger," I began. And then I stopped.

I let go of her hands and put my arms around her. I pressed my mouth against hers and held it there until we were both breathless. I did it again and again.

"Oh, Leo," she murmured.

THE STORY: Leo Kabateek, unemployed, is trying to make ends meet now that he's prime legal adviser to racketeer Virgil Boggio. Boggio's girl friend, Ginger, makes a play for him when Boggio goes to see her. Boggio is having a bad day and Ginger is insulted. Kabateek decides he has acted too hastily.

THE desk clerk gave me the address of a high class florist shop which wasn't from the hotel. I had it figured out. I send her a big bunch of flowers with maybe little ope and than I'd call her again. Boggio never thought sending Ginger flowers, and I knew she'd get a kick out of them. Then she'd be in a suitable frame of mind. I list it to what I had to say.

But it's funny what you can do to do and what can actually wind up doing. The clerk might have directed me to another florist's and I'd never have gone in that direction on that particular day.

I reached the store, bought a good-sized bunch of roses and told the florist to put them in a cardboard box. No handwritten card. I wasn't going to be so dim-witted as to risk broadcasting my sentiments to Boggio. Ginger might become absent-minded and leave the flower lying around with the card in it.

I asked the florist if he had any printed greeting cards. He hadn't, but he directed me to a store a little farther down the street. And that's how I happened to pass in front of the automobile showroom. I caught only a glimpse of that dark blue convertible as I hurried by, but it registered.

In the stationery store I found what I was looking for—a card dedicated to friendship. It featured a dove on the cover and had a touching poem on the inside. I bought it and hurried back to the florist's, again glancing at the couple as I strode by.

Proves Boon to Mothers

Bulletin

Kansas City Mo.—Doctors report many cases of infant feeding difficult to handle, now respond readily to a Vitamin D enriched homogenized milk of remarkably improved flavor.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Authoritative tests show essential natural milk minerals and vitamins in proper balance are safely retained through new secret methods of processing and evaporation. This process also makes possible highly successful scientific enrichment in Vitamin D, adding 325 USP units of Vitamin D per 14½ ounces.

Beneficial results in baby formulas are further increased by more easy digestibility, assured by complete homogenization. Mothers find babies thrive on the greater nutrition derived. Babies usually accept this improved evaporated milk more readily because of its pleasing, satisfying taste.

Complete sterilization assures absolute safety, normally a most serious problem for mothers. A further safeguard—babies' welfare is the exact scientific uniformity in full nutritional value of this marvelous milk.

According to dairy authorities and pediatricians this new discovery in milk improvement is the most outstanding advancement in America's No 1 basic food since pasteurization.

Development of this food to its present perfection has been carried on over a period of years by skilled dairy chemists and technicians in the laboratories of the Producers Creamery Co., Springfield, Mo., the milk development and marketing division of the great Missouri Farmers Association, reputed the largest of its kind in the United States, in the heart of a rich dairy country.

This improved product is known as homogenized DARICRAFT Evaporated Milk. Its sensational betterments in taste, vitamin content, and uniformity of quality, as well as its greater convenience and economy, make DARICRAFT equally valuable for all household uses and for infant feeding. Older children enjoy its flavor, too. It blends with and adds to the natural flavors of all cooked foods, cereals, coffee, desserts and fruits.

So popular and famous has this product become that practically all grocery stores can usually provide you with DARICRAFT, although civilian supplies are curtailed by heavy government demands for war time needs.

Mrs. J. D. James, Jefferson City Reviews Books at Sorosis

Mrs. J. D. James of Jefferson City, who on two previous occasions has given reviews of plays at Sorosis, was again a guest speaker Monday afternoon when she reviewed the historical novel, "Blessed Are The Meek" by Zofia Kossak. Mrs. James was introduced by Mrs. Arthur Hoffman of the Art and Drama department.

"At no time since 1830 when Ben Hur was written," Mrs. James said, "have religious novels been so popular." This spring "Blessed Are The Meek" was selected by the book of the month club and the Catholic books also had it on the list. The book was written by Madame Kossak in Poland, her native land, where she is highly regarded. Her whereabouts is not now known but her husband is in a concentration camp. Her publishers were a brilliant young couple who were very successful in their business in Poland. They managed to escape just before it was occupied by the Germans and came to the United States with nothing. They decided to look in the book stores to see if they could find anything that they had published in Poland. Finally in one of the book stores they found a copy of "Blessed Are The Meek" and translated it into English. It immediately became a best seller. Madame Kossak, wherever she is, would probably be very much surprised at how her book had suddenly become so popular in the United States. Mrs. James said.

Twelfth Century Story

"Blessed Are The Meek" goes back to the twelfth century to the colorful age of the Crusades and the troubadours. It is the inspiring story of St. Francis of Assisi, whose quiet, gentle manner held such a power over great men and tells of the part he played in religious history.

His life is one thread of the story. Short and slight he went about in beggar's attire and people paid little attention to him until they looked into his eyes. There was something compelling, something convincing about his eyes, clear, kind eyes.

With a sudden conversion in the midst of a life of pleasure he felt the call of God and when he felt that Christianity was lessening he decided to visit Pope Innocent III. Before his arrival the Pope had had a dream in which he saw his church crumbling and then saw it held together by a man, a beggar. He told of his dream and his men scoffed at him but he felt that he would know that beggar anywhere. So Francis visited the Pope, he went forward and kissed his foot, then he looked up and those who watched saw terror on the face of the Pope. This was the beggar of his dream. He had come to the Pope to receive a name for his order for he had many followers and received the Pope's blessings.

Romance

The story also tells of the great love of John of Brienne for Blanche. In 1208 envoys came to the king of France to ask him to select a man from one of his barons to become the husband to the heiress and ruler of Jerusalem, Marie who was very young and pale. John was no longer young, nor was Blanche but Blanche was beautiful and vivacious and he loved her deeply. He asked Blanche to follow him and with her young son, she did, telling her husband that a trip to the Holy Land would benefit the boy. He married Marie, but it was without love. Blinded by his great fascination for Blanche, he lost his command in the fifth crusade to his bitterest enemy, Pelagius, who, in spite of the warning of King John, refused to accept the favorable terms offered by the sultan and advanced on Damietta, until it was too late.

It was Francis, who with his obscure appearance, went unnoticed through the enemy lines and to the tent of the sultan. The sultan was surprised and impressed by the man. He questioned the Crusaders, asking if this was a great man among them and they told him he was not. The sultan told them that for that man, whom he knew was sincere, he would let many of them leave his country alive — he had intended to kill all of them and he expressed a desire to talk with Francis again.

Marie learned of her husband's unfaithfulness and at the birth of her daughter, Isabelle, died. Filled with remorse at Marie's death, and his unfaithfulness to her, of his failure to take command when it was offered him, at his knowledge he had taken Blanche from her husband, he turned from her. She had not changed — she was

Girl Injured In Car Wreck Monday Night

Condition Not Serious; Car Struck
Telephone Pole

Miss Deloris Barker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Barker, 1100 South Missouri avenue, received injuries about midnight Monday night when the 1941 Plymouth convertible coupe she was driving skidded into a ditch, then struck a telephone pole in the 1400 block on West Main street. The car belongs to Flight Officer Benjamin Weeks of the Sedalia Army Air Field.

Her condition is not considered serious, however, today she was in a hysterical condition at the Bothwell hospital. She received a slight scalp wound, scratches on her legs and a bruise on her head.

Elmer Richter, driver for the Terminal Cab Co., said that he was driving east on Main street looking for a house number and saw the car coming from the east. The car appeared to swerve as if turning into a driveway and before he realized what was happening the car skidded down the ditch and struck a telephone pole. The top of the car struck the pole and the rear right fender hitting the pole caused the rear end of the car to be thrown back onto the pavement.

Taken to the Hospital

Richter said he rushed to the car, found the girl lying in the street, carried her over to his cab and with the passenger who was riding with him at the time, rushed to the Bothwell hospital. It was more than an hour before the girl was identified. Dr. A. J. Campbell was called and rendered medical treatment.

Richter stated he does not believe anyone else was in the car at the time of the accident.

The car was badly damaged and was towed to the police station by Elmer Arnold's wrecker.

PUSHOVER?...

Yes, Compared To The Job of Our Fighting Men Our Job of Raising Our Sixth War Loan Quota of $784,000.00
on Thursday, November 16th is a Pushover!

If you think Japan is a pushover—you're fooling yourself, mister. Millions of fanatical Japanese are prepared to die for their country. Every American soldier, marine and sailor in the Pacific knows that he has a tough fight on his hands. But our job of raising our Sixth War Loan quota of $784,000.00 in one day—Thursday, November 16th—is a pushover by comparison. Of course, we may have to make a few sacrifices, we may have to extend ourselves a little to get to a bond center between 10 a. m. and 3 p. m., and we may have to deny ourselves a few things to raise the money—but we won't be out on the firing line risking our lives, and we won't be living in a foxhole, wondering every moment whether we'll see the light of tomorrow's sun. Let's show the boys in the trenches and foxholes, in the air, and on the sea, that we're doing our part to help them finish this war!

Ballyhoo on Leyte Island Is Homelike

By Jim Hutcheson

TACLOBAN, Leyte Island—The boxing ballyhoo of Madison Square Garden at its peak had no edge on Promoter Tony Benedicto, the Mike Jacobs of Tacloban.

These are samples of the stirring ballyhoo on his boxing card handbills:

"Tony Benedicto presents: Inferno! All of them determined to liquidate each other!"

"Tony Benedicto presents: 'Each round they die!' 30 thrill-packed rounds. Each round a savage and gory battle."

"Tony Benedicto presents: 'Blood and Dust!' Fistic battles never before seen in Leyte."

With typical Americanistic technique, these were some of the vivid cognomens: Cebu killer, The elephant boy, Dead End Kid, Leyte Terror, White Menace.

And another item on the bill made it sound like home: The price of admission—plus the 20 per cent tax."

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14—(P)—After last Saturday's game, Notre Dame has slipped way back in the football ratings but you can't deny that the Irish have courage. . . . McKeever proved it by showing up for both the football writers and sports broadcasters meetings yesterday. . . . And what's more, Ed hasn't changed the opinion of one-sided scores he expressed after that Dartmouth rout. . . . "It isn't fair to the kids to send them in and tell them to hold the score down," he argues. . . . After linesman Dave Reese was hurt, McKeever and Col. Biff Jones were discussing what to do. The Notre Dame coach remarked: "One thing that would help the game would be to let us have Blanchard and Davis for the next half." . . . And when Minor went 60 yards to score on that tricky punt return, an army colonel shouted to Steve Owen of the Giants: "That's a good play; you ought to use it." . . . "Yes, it is a good play and you should have been using it for the last 13 years."

End to End

The normally mild Don Hutson became somewhat annoyed when a Cleveland player guarded him rather roughly last Sunday and gave him a good shove while he was going after one pass. . . . The Ram promptly offered to clip Hutson on the chin next time that happened. . . . Came another Green Bay pass and Don headed directly for the defender, shouting "Get that clip ready, here I come!" . . . Then he neatly sidestepped as the rival got ready to swing, went on to the end zone and caught a touchdown pass.

Service Dept.

The navy armed guard crew on board the SS Lou Gehrig passes spare time playing softball in the No. 2 hold when it isn't full of cargo. . . . Cpl. Charles Jones, the wrestling and judo instructor at Keesler Field, Miss., also can let some nifty signs add the grid coach. Capt. George B. Huffman, has made good use of his talents. . . . The captain's latest idea backfired when he asked the corporal to paint a "Don't let George do it" poster for the dressing room. It came out "Don't let Jones do it."

Army-Navy Game December 2 Sellout

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 14—(P)—The Army-Navy game Dec. 2 is a sell-out. Capt. C. A. Humphreys, navy director of athletics, broke the news when he announced that "We have more than 19,000 applications and only 18,756 seats in Thompson stadium," even as a renewed drive to shift the game to a big city stadium got under way in Washington.

So, if any Annapolitans are perturbed over prospects of seeing their expected semi-private battle taken away, they may raise a fever about that "over-subscribed" angle—because that means many of them will have their applications returned.

Prisoner Fleeing In Plane Caught

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 14—(P)—

Robert G. Kaslow, former army air corps officer, who escaped from the Craig Field, Ala., guard house Friday night and fled in an army plane, was apprehended here Monday night by agents of the FBI.

And another item on the bill made it sound like home:

The price of admission—plus the 20 per cent tax."

In the Service

Lt. Col. James E. Norlin, 1501 South Moniteau avenue, this city, director of military training at Camp Gordon, Ga., is the subject of the following sketch sent out from camp headquarters:

WITH THE 12TH AIR FORCE SERVICE COMMAND IN ITALY—First Sgt. John G. Cole, husband of Mrs. Doris Dean Cole, 1412 South Ohio avenue, Sedalia, Mo., is on duty with the Army Air Forces in Italy.

Overseas nearly two years, Sgt. Cole has served as top sergeant of a service group quartermaster company throughout North Africa, Sicily, Italy and France. His group, a part of the XII Air Force Service Command, recently left Italy for a brief period to take part in the invasion of southern France, and was one of the first ground organizations to support our warplanes in France. Less than five days after the initial landings, his unit was issuing bread to air corps troops, the bread baked with American flour in a French bakery used the week before by the Germans.

Sergeant Cole, son of Mrs. Paul Tietze, 338 West Saline street, Sedalia, Mo., was formerly connected with "Cole's Electric," South Osage, Sedalia. He has two brothers in the navy stationed in the U.S. Seaman 2/c William J. Cole and seaman Richard C. Cole.

Lt. Col. James E. Norlin

"Director of Military Training at Camp Gordon is Lt. Col. James E. Norlin, whose home is in Sedalia, Missouri. He came into the army in 1917 and served with the 88th division overseas in the Alsace sector. With the Missouri National Guard, 128th Field Artillery from 1920 to 1940, Col. Norlin served in various assignments and grades with batteries and as a staff officer.

"Nov. 25, 1940 Col. Norlin came on active duty with the 128th F. A. as a major and was stationed at Ft. Jackson, S. C. January, 1941. Col. Norlin left the regiment and was stationed at Charleston, S. C. in command of a district of eight camps, former recreational centers that were used to house the troops of the eastern defense command.

"The assistant special agent in charge of the New Orleans FBI office, Zach J. Van Landingham, called a news conference at 7:45 p.m. to announce that Kaslow, 21, who was serving a 30-year sentence at the Alabama field for violations of the articles of war was taken in custody at 5 p.m. in the cocktail lounge of a New Orleans hotel.

"Van Landingham said Kaslow was dressed in the full uniform of a second lieutenant in the United States air corps and was accompanied by a New Orleans girl whom he had known approximately one year." The agent said the girl was being held for questioning but he declined to identify her. He said she was about 25 years old.

"The FBI agent said Kaslow would be held in the Parish jail here tonight and that federal charges are to be filed against him tomorrow "for possession of a stolen army plane in this area."

"He already had been charged with the theft of the plane in Alabama.

The plane in which the flier was said by Craig field officers and FBI agents to have escaped crashed Saturday at Higgins air port near here. It was unoccupied.

Van Landingham said Kaslow told FBI men he parachuted from the plane at 5,000 feet above a swamp near here and made his way into the city on foot.

As an aerial engineer with an AA bombardment group, he saw action in the European theater of operations. For his 30 combat missions over enemy-held territory, some of which were hotly contested by stiff enemy fighter interception and intense anti-aircraft fire, he was awarded the Air Medal with three oak leaf clusters, as well as the coveted Distinguished Flying Cross.

T/Sgt Bryan is a graduate of Otterville high school. Prior to his joining the armed forces in January, 1943 he was employed by North American Aviation in Kansas City.

A brother, Pvt. Harold Bryan,

Technical Sergeant Virgil J. Bryan, Army Air Forces, 20, whose wife resides at 1547 Wabash avenue, Kansas City, and whose parents are residents of Otterville, recently cleared through the Air Transport Command's aerial port of debarkation at the Washington National Airport Army Air Base in the nation's capital. He had just returned to the United States aboard an ATC plane after more than six months overseas.

As an aerial engineer with an AA bombardment group, he saw action in the European theater of operations. For his 30 combat missions over enemy-held territory, some of which were hotly contested by stiff enemy fighter interception and intense anti-aircraft fire, he was awarded the Air Medal with three oak leaf clusters, as well as the coveted Distinguished Flying Cross.

T/Sgt Bryan is a graduate of Otterville high school. Prior to his joining the armed forces in January, 1943 he was employed by North American Aviation in Kansas City.

Captain Guilty In Bribe Case

Convicted In Conspiracy On Army Contracts

NEW YORK, Nov. 14—(P)—Capt. Joseph Gould, 48-year-old former boxing manager, was sentenced to three years at hard labor, fined $12,000, and dismissed from the army Monday following his conviction by a general court martial of conspiracy to accept bribes for the award of army contracts.

Gould, charged with accepting more than $1,600 in connection with the awarding of contracts worth $1,000,000 to the Cornwall Shipbuilding Co., Inc., also was convicted of seeking to have Stephen Patrick (Tex) Sullivan, a boxing associate, testify falsely in his behalf before the court martial.

The 13-man military court delivered three hours and 25 minutes before the verdict was announced by Col. Ralph Slade, president.

Gould, who had pleaded innocent to all counts, heard the decision with no show of emotion.

The man who once managed ex-heavy weight champion James J. Braddock was found guilty of four specifications in the charge of violating the 96th article of war.

Specification three was charged to read that he had received an amount in excess of $1,600 instead of $18,000 as originally charged.

Specifically, Gould was convicted on the four specifications as follows:

Of conspiring with Milton A. Henry, president of the Cornwall company, between May and November, 1943, to defraud the government by wrongfully influencing the award of contracts for war materials, including life rafts to Henry's company; of conspiring with Henry to receive secret compensation for services in connection with the award of the contracts; of receiving bribes of more than $1,600 from the Cornwall company for such services, and of unlawfully attempting to have Sullivan testify falsely that he (Sullivan) had been employed by the Cornwall company from October, 1943, to April, 1944, as a publicity agent.

The $1,600, it was testified at the trial, represented the total amount received from the Cornwall company by Sullivan an purportedly turned over to Gould.

The usual renewal trade talks held annually at this time will not be undertaken and Sweden has no intention of signing a new agreement, a reliable source said.

Delegation To Jefferson City

F. W. Smithper, representative of the Jefferson City Production Credit Association, reports that a large delegation of Production Credit members from this county plan to attend the annual stockholders' meeting of the Jefferson City Production Credit Association in Jefferson City on November 15. All of the association members and interested farmers are invited to attend. Mr. Smithper urges anyone who would like to have a ride to the meeting to get in touch with him.

Soloist Highly Pleasing

Mr. Sheffield, who plays easily and without eccentricities, was impressive in his thorough musicianship, his artistic humility through which he subordinates self to such a great lyrical work as the Shumann Concerto in A Minor for piano and orchestra.

Yet, he exerted alert control over the keys and interpreted the opening movement, the Allegro Affetuoso, in which he was first heard on the program, with feeling, sensitive and forthright, rather than impassioned.

Once the motives and themes are established the movement is scored with pianistic intricacies, then builds to ensemble strength, of which the solo instrument is the nucleus, advances into passages in which the pianist is again the stellar virtuoso, and recapitulates in a unified and brilliant close.

Throughout, the orchestra described excellent accompaniment the woodwinds, particularly the solo oboe, giving a good account of themselves.

Overture

The orchestra opened the concert with the jolly "The Marriage of Figaro" overture, an always enticing number of familiar ring to music-lovers and especially opera-listeners, and in this opener the orchestra under the capable and understanding leadership of its conductor effectively exhibited the results of long hours of rehearsals and concert experience through the past nine years, and it is indeed an organization that has grown to mature stature, resilient and purposeful.

Augmented by SAAF Musicians

The talents of musicians from the Sedalia Army Air Field under the direction of Warrant Officer Thomas E. Wilson has been a splendid augmentation to the civilian orchestra which is composed of talented players from Sedalia and several near-by communities.

Medley Thoroughly Enjoyed

Light-hearted and of popular effectiveness was the medley of "Oklahoma!" selections by Richard Rodgers which ended the first part of the concert. Of special beauty and decidedly humable are "Oh What a Beautiful Morning," "People Will Say We're in Love." Descriptive, and of folksy quality is "The Surrey With the Fringe on Top". The work of the rhythm section was outstanding in the playing of the suite.

This was the first presentation here of the musical score of the top-ranking musical comedy and while it may be classified as a novelty offering on the program, its melodies and settings and the play from which "Oklahoma!" was devised are typically American.

Another first on the orchestral program was the Red Cavalry March by Morton Gould, outstanding current American composer. Dramatic in its design, haunting in its military melodies, interesting in its effects—the violin harmonics and coil legno, the call of the horns and the beat of the wood-block—it is a number to be remembered and was executed effectively by the Sedalia symphony. The March is based upon an authentic melody of the Cossack horsemen.

The Caucasian sketch, the Procession of the Sardar, by Ippolitow-Iwanow, with its Far East accents; the lullaby, Jarnef's "Berceuse" with a delicate performance given by muted strings gave further evidence of the orchestra's abilities.

Into Solo Group

Showing an innate affection for music and his chosen instrument, Mr. Sheffield, who is professor of music at Kansas State Music college, Emporia, opened his solo group with Prokofieff's March, a unique brief piece, and the sincerity and discreetly inspired manner in which he plays were evident in Debussy's delightful "Clair de Lune."

A novel solo number was "The Little White Donkey" (Ibert) in which the pianist added personality to the composition by head gestures depicting the capriciousness of a donkey.

Mr. Sheffield's performance of M. de Falla's fiery and tempestuous "Ritual Fire Dance" was accomplished with sound technique and interpretative skill.

His encore presentations were Liszt's "Liebestraum"; Mr. Sheffield's arrangement of Parry's Welsh song, "Mifanwy" which was used in the motion picture, "How Green Was My Valley" and Chopin's "Butterfly Etude."

The concert was concluded with Hosmer's "Southern Rhapsody" a favorite composite of southern melodies, and the audience applauded so vigorously the orchestra and Conductor Rosenthal took a "curtain call."
